Planning	1. Appn Ref 17/0537

Erection of 5 no. dwellings Land adjacent Exchange Cottage Esk Street Longtown

Not supported, voted 3 against 2 abstained. Following response agreed.

This field was the subject of a planning application some 20-25 years ago when there was considerable opposition to the building of approximately 80 houses. The field has always been a natural flood plain and still floods severely several times a year taking water from 2 streams. The Parish Council would not wish to support and future developments on this field.

It is fair to say that, in the case of this planning application, the area in question is probably at the least likely part of the field to be affected by flooding but as with recent climatic changes there can be no guarantee. There are however, several points to mention from the Flood Risk Evaluation. The Beck which runs from Lochinvar Close and on through this field is not the Powdrake Beck which flows into the River ESK FROM Netherby Road. The one in question is the Raeburn Beck. The Flood Protection Scheme mentioned in the application is a type of sump installed at Lochinvar to prevent the flooding of parts of that estate.

Although appearing to have prevented flooding of houses in that part of Longtown, it has made little difference in preventing flooding of the field. Where the proposed development is to take place, as that was not its purpose. The installation of flood retention basins to the east of Longtown does not control the flow sufficiently to make any difference to the flooding of this field; it only protects the Lochinvar Estate.

Full consultation with neighbouring properties taking their views into consideration is essential.
